Lacqueries Armor Plates.—The Navy Department is notified of the arrival in San Francisco, by steamer from Japan, of two packages of a new kind of fron and steel plate. The packages contained four of these plates, each four feet square. The plates are covered with three coats of antifauling, anti-corresive lacquer, and they will be subjected to a test of submergence in salt water for three months, in order to ascertain whether the process can be applied to ships of the White Squadron. It is stated by those who have seen the Japanese steel warships having this lacquer on their bottoms, instead of the usual paint, that the plates were perfectly smooth and unbroken. The bottom of the warship Ninwaken was coated with this lacquer for time months. When she was decked it was found that her plates were in excellent condition, and not the least jarticle of grass or barnacles was cost particle of grass or barnacles wa found.

The Fleer Arroat.—Private information received at the Navy Department states that the White squadron had quite a selous time of it in spreading its wings and sailing away from New Orleans. As the new war ships had floated for the first time on the bosom of the Mississippi the mighty river seemed inclined to retain a sourchir of the trip, and formed a thick send deposit over the emblem of hope, and theanchor would not yield to esaxing or main strength. So the chain was parted and the river got the benefit of some extra links.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF SOME NOTED MEN

In the Senate and House of Representatives-Hon. Richard Vanx, Senators Hampton, Walthall, Pugh, Bate, War-ren, Shoup and Honorable H. C. Hans-

The most graceful and picturesque-looking figure in the lower House is that of the Hon, Richard Vaux of Pennsyl vania. He wears the finest cloth, hand me patent leathers, and the most immaculate linen. His manners, like his attire, are faultless, Fifty years at the Bar! Mr. Vaux is 75 years old. When he was the handsome young Secretary of the Legation under the American Minister, Hon. Andrew Stephenson, to London, he had the pleasure of dancing with Queen Vic-toria. Mr. Vaux was born in Philadelphia in 1861. He read law under the Hon William H. Meredith, Secretary of the Treasury under Filmore's administration. He was appointed Recorder of the city of He was appointed Recorder of the city of Philadelphia in 1842; elected Mayor in 1856; was at the head of the Democratic electoral ticket of Pennsylvania three times; nominated for Congressman-at-large in 1858; was President of the Board of Directors of Girard Collego; is now a member of the Board of City Trusts of Philadelphia, having charge of Girard Collego.

College.
Mr. Vaux has been President of the Board of Inspectors of the Eastern Pententiary of Philadelphia for forty-seven years, and was elected to till the unexpired term of the Hon. Samuel J. Randall, the great Democratic leader.

There are some splendid men in the United States Senate—grand, good men at heart, broad and liberal, and full of the milk of human kindness.

Show us a more incorraptible patriot than the leader of the famous "Black Horse" Cavalry—pronounce his name with reverence —Wade Hampton of South Carolina. He stood by his State in its darkest hours of reconstruction, and led and guided her into the light of a perfect day.

and guided her into the light of a perfect day.

There is Walthall of Mississippi—a Virginian by birth, a lawyer with a large practice at home, and a courteous gentleman everywhere—appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. L. Q. C. Lamar when appointed Secretary of the Interior. Senator Walthall was a major-general in the Confederate army. He was admitted to the Bar in 1852; was district attorney of the Tenth district of Mississippi for several terms; was delegate-at-large to the National Democratic conventions in 1868-76-86-81; in 1868 was one of the vice-presidents of the convention and in 1876-89-84 was chairman of the Mississippi delegation. General Walthall has a very lucrative practice at the Bar, and is onlie wealthy besides.

Is there a better man living than Senator Pugh of Alabama? He was born in Burke County, Georgia, close to Augusta, in 1820. He came to the bar in 1841: was Taylor elector in 1848. Buchanan elector in 1856, and State elector for Tiden in 1856. Was elected to Congress without opposition in 1859. He retired from the Thirty sixth. Cosyress when Alabama withdrew from the Union, and joined the Enfaula Rifles as a private soldier.

Senator Pugh was elected to the Confederate Congress in 1861 and re-elected in 1853. Was President of the State Demogratic Convegtion in 1874. Was a member of the State Constitutional Convention in 1875. At the expiration of his term he will have been in the Senate eleven years.

In the Senate you will observe a quiet.

In the Senate you will observe a quiet, elegant-looking gentleman who limps a little and always walks with a cane. That is the colonel of the old, gallant, hardighting Second Tennessee Regiment, who rose successively from private to major-general in the Southern army.

Senator Bate was a solder in the Mexican war. He graduated from the famous Camberland University in 1852. In 1854 he was elected Attorney-General for the Nashville district, holding for six years; during that time was nominated for Congress, but declined; was Presidential elector on Breckenridge Lane ticket; was delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1838; he served on the National Democratic Executive Committee of Tennessee for twelve years; was elected for State at large on the Tilden and Hendricks ticket 1876; in 1882 was elected Governor of Tennessee and re-elected without opposition in 1884; in 1887 was elected to the United States Senate over ex-Governor Marks. Governor Bate delivered one of the most effective speeches against the Force bill in December last. He was severely wounded many times during the war.

Ex Governor Francis E. Warren, U. S. Senate, is a very highly accomplished and polished gentieman. He is in the prime of life, just 47 years of age, and possesses a vigorous intellect, and has been successful in life.

He is a native of Massachusetts, was a non-commissioned officer in the Ninth Massachusetts Regiment; afterward captain in the Massachusetts militia; removed to Wyoming, then a part of Dakota, in 1868; was president of the Chuncil Wyoming Legislature in 1873, and member of the Council in 1881; was Mayor of Cheyenne and served as treasurer of Wyoming, was a delegate to the National Republican Convention at Chicago in 1888.

President Arthur appointed him Gov-ernor of Wyoming, but he was removed by Mr. Cleveland. President Harrison re-appointed him. He served until Wyo-ming was admitted as a State, when he was elected Governor in September, 1890; was cleeted to the U. S. Senate in Novem-ber, 1890. Pennsylvania, and was born in 1830. He removed with his father to Illinois in 1832, and engaged in farming and stock raising until 1838. Went to Colorado in 1830, and remained there until 1861, when he set out to help restere the disintegrated parts of the Union—to link them together again, so to speak. He belonged to an independent company of seouts operating at the base of the Rocky Mountains. Was ordered to Fort Mexico in 1862, when he seconted along the Pecos, Canadian and Red Riversuntil 1863. In the mean time he had arrived at the dignity of inst licutenant. Then he went to the Arkansas River to hant rebels. At this time he belonged to the First colorado Cavalry.

1864 Senator Shoup was elected to the Constitutional Convention to prepare for the proposed State of Colorado, after which he returned to notive daty in the service of the "best Government the world every saw."

He was commissioned colored of the Third Colorado Cavalry in 1864. In the meantime the end was fast approaching, and the thunder of Lee's guits and the "Old Guard" of the Army of Northern Virginia would soon be silent torever. Senator Shoup was nustered out of service at Denver City. He had performed his duty, and now the most amicable relations exist, and he sits in the same hall and hobnois with Buller and Hampton and Walthall just as if no "bloody chasm" had ever existed. The hatchet has been buried for twenty-five years, and only

Then he went to Chicago and afterward to Wisconsin, where he published the Baraboo Bulletin. In 1882 removed to Pakota and in 1883 he established himself at Devil's Lake, where he published the horse-tecen. Mr. Hansborough was a delegate to the Chicago Convention in 1883, after having been twice Mayor of Devil's Lake, and was chicsen national committeeman for North Dakota. He remeved the Republican nomination for Congress at North Dakota's first State Convention. His popularity was demonstrated by his receiving 25,077 votes against his Democratic opponent, Hon, Daniel W. Manata's 12,005. North Dakota's handsome Representative has plenty of intelligence, individuality and is personally very popular. He boards at the Riggs House.

fever heat yesterday when nominations of candidates took place throughout Canada. Three Liberals and two Conservatives were declared elected by acclamation. The list includes Mr. Lourier, leader of the opposition, whose strength in Quebec East prevented the Conservatives bringing out an opponent.

Sir John MacDonald, the Conservative leader, was too ill to appear before the electors at Kingston. He has been working night and day for three weeks, and the exertion has proved too much for his seventy-seven years. His condition is regarded as very serious. He is laid up in bed at Kingston, and the sensational reports in circulation about his condition have demoralized his followers.

The Senate, however, at the instance of Mr. Gorman, the remaining member of the Committee on Printing, proposed an amendment to the Sundry Civil bill supending the appropriation for the site.

Mr. Gorman's idea is that the suitability

WOMEN WANTSUFFRAGE

THEY DEMAND AN EQUAL SHOWING WITH THE MEN.

The Meeting Not Lacking in Interest and Reports Read Show Large Gains in Every State-Susan B. Anthony and Henry W. Blair Suggested for the Presidential Ticket-Last Night's

This morning's session of the Woman uffrage Association opened with a very seautiful sole by Mrs. Eulalie Domer

Rheem. Debate on the Admission of Wyoming," by Mrs. Ellen B. Dietrick of Massachu-

She said Wyoming did not believe that the right of allowing women to vote unsexed them. Three millions of American wemen were forced to go out and work they were forced to go out in the wide world and earn a living. The violent ex-they were forced to go out in the wide world and earn a living. The violent exercise of writing yes or no on a piece of paper would not burt them. Many of the rulers needed enlightening. Mrs. Dietrick reviewed what had been done in Congress touching the rights of woman, and took occasion to say some things not entirely complimentary to Senators and members who believed woman's only sphere was the home circle. "Nature made both sexes equal," she declared, "and endowed them with the same reasoning faculties, and there was no reason why they should not be given equal privileges in all things."

Mrs. Josephine K. Henry of Kentucky read a paper on "The Kentucky Constitutional Convention." Mrs. Henry was the first woman who ever ran for office in Kentucky. She made the race for clerk of the Court of Appeals and received a very flat ering vote. She said that her State was waking up on the question of woman's rights. The women simply wanted equal justice and laws which would protect them the same as the men. Kentucky women were determined to have a different state of affairs, and they did not feel the least discouraged. They wanted equal property rights, and would continue the fight until it was scenred. The ballot was the only protector of individual liberty, and women should have the right to vote. She begged that the gespel of equal rights be sent into Southern States. Rev. F. A. Hinckley of Massachusetts made an address favoring woman suffrage. He said that all races were one and tumanity was that one. Men and women were one and that was what it should be. This fact was becoming reconnized. The central thought in all creeds should be. This fact was becoming reconnized. The central thought in all creeds should be the brotherhood of mankind. He was glad to be able to be in the convention and believed that a better and brighter day was dawning.

"When women vote, purity would be established as was never known before." he declared.

"Hark the Sound of Myrlad Volces." was sung and the audience joined in the chorus."

Haris the Sound of Myraad Voices was sing and the audience joined in the chorus."

After the song five-minute addresses were made by presidents of State associations, the first being Miss Heten Philleo Jenkins of Michigan, who gave an interesting account of the progress of the work in her State. Mrs. Isabella Beccher Hooker of Connecticut said the liquor interests of that State would not allow women to vote. Mrs. Jeane Brooks Greenleaf of New York made a favorable rejort of the progress of the work in New York State.

Other States were heard from in the following order:

Massachusetts, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Kentucky, Miss Laura Clay, Minnesota, Julia B. Nelson, Arkausas, Clara A. Me-Diarmid; South Dakota, Philena E. Johnson, Illinois, Mary A. Holmes, Pennyel-vania, Mary Grew Oilio, Martha H. El-well; Inwa, Mary J. Coggesweil.

The reports showed that the women have not been idle and that in some States they are anxious to denosit their ballots. In the report from New Hampshire the names of William McKinley and Senator Bair were suggested for President and Vice-President, but a hady on the right.

mames of William McKinley and Senator Bair were suggested for President and Vice-President but a hidy on the platform said she thought a better combination would be Susan B. Anthony and Henry W. Blair.

The presentation of fraternal delegates was deferred until some future time. The following is to-night's programme:

Music, oreclestra; invocation; "Wyoming, the True Republic," Senator J. M. Carey, Wyoming, music, "O. Sing of Wyoming," M. Elizabeth Johnson, "The Right of a Citizen to Trial by a Jury of his Peus," Lillie Deverenx Blake, New York; "The Silent Seven," Lide Meriwether, Tennersec; duet, Schubert's "Serenade" (violin and cello aecompaniment), Eulalie Domer Rheem and M. Elizabeth Johnson; "Weman's Enfranchisement in Relation to the Body Politic," Zerelda G. Wallace, Indiana.

Last Night's Session. Notwithstanding the very disagreeable weather, a large audience greeted the Weman's Suffrage Association at last night's session. The opening prayer was made by Rev. F. A. Hinckley of Massa-chusetts. The minister is in thorough sympath with the women and in his prayer referred to the cause as one of "The Possibilities of the American Salor," was the subject of an entertaining address by Julia Ward Howe of Rhode Island. She said somety was a lottery where there are a few prizes and many blanks. Social intercourse was not always beneficial, but often engendered antagenisms. Extremes should be avoided in social organizations. In conducting the salon the number of guests should be restricted and the variety enlarged. She did not approve of so much newspaper publicity being given social gatherings and said it was time to cease apeing European society.

The committee on resolutions was an pean society.

The committee on resolutions was announced by the secretary, Mrs. Rachel Foster Avery. There are thirty States represented in the convention, and the committee is composed of one delegate from each State.

Mrs. Annic Garlin Spencer was next introduced, and made an address which was well received. She said the advance of woman had been marked in all respects save politics. She said the reason women were behind in this country is because the question of woman's political freedom rises and falls with the belief in a democratic form of government. The great drawback to the Government is not because ignorance places the vote in the hallot-boxes, but because ignorance enters the home and destroys society.

Mrs. M. Elizabeth Johnson sang a beautiful sole, after which Mrs. Florence Balgarnic of London spoke on The Status of Women in England. She said, while woman's status in England was good, it was not as good as they intended to make it. The women were gradually getting their rights. She spoke of the treatment of women in Great Britain. Even public furniture was considered of more value than women.

furniture was considered of more value than women.

Not long since a man was fined $5 for beating a woman, and another man paid $10 for breaking a chair in a public tark. Such a thing she did not think could happen in America. Great progress had been made in the education of women, but she did not believe that a ration could rise to the highest point of civilization without the joint ballet of men and women.
